

A Collaboration between the University of Nottingham, Architectural Association Housing and Urbanism Programme, TU Berlin Chair of Architectural Theory & Chair for Urban Design and Urbanization, and Hybrid Lab Berlin.

In recent years we have witnessed the growth of shared and serviced work environments suited to the patterns of the creative and technology industries. Simultaneously, service delivery patterns are beginning to move over into the residential sector. Accordingly, there is a need to develop new kinds of crossover

BUILDING KNOWLEDGE

10:15	Prof. Gleiter	Welcome
10:20	Dr. Katharina Borsi & Lawrence Barth	Introduction
10:30	Dr. Katharina Borsi University of Nottingham	The System of the Berlin Block
11:00	Sandra Meireis TU Berlin	Micro Utopias
11:30	Anna Heilgemeir & Dagmar Pelger, TU Berlin	Mapping Commons

NEIGHBOURHOODS

13:30	Lawrence Barth Architectural Association	Planning in the Innovation Economy
14:00	Anne-Caroline Erbstößer TSB	Technology, Innovation & Manufacture in the City
14:30	Andreas Krüger Belius Stiftung:	Spatial Strategies
16:00	Britta Jürgens Deadline Architekten	Frizz23
16:30	Florian Köhl Fatkoehl Architekten	Urban Eco-Systems
17:00	Anna Shapiro Sheppard Robson, London	Urbanised Innovation
17:30	Dominic Papa S 333, London	Workspace Neighbourhoods

4th Nov 2017
Hybrid Lab

living and working environments based on these models. A series of existing cases in Berlin, London, and elsewhere suggest that new kinds of residential buildings – often user-driven in their design origins – offer increased opportunities to support work spaces, neighbourhood resources, and improved integration with local mobility patterns.

This one-day symposium brings together academics and practitioners from Nottingham, Berlin and London to discuss new approaches to the design, planning, and servicing of these emerging knowledge neighbourhoods; their range and programmatic diversity; their morphologies and densities as well as their relationship to mobility and a broader set of urban resources.

Hybrid Lab
Villa Bell,
10587 Berlin,
Marchstraße 8.
TU Berlin
Charlottenburg Campus

Email
knowledgeneighbourhoods@gmail.com
Web:
<http://www.hybrid-plattform.org/en/about-us/hybrid-lab/>

If you would like to attend, please register here: <https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/building-knowledge-neighbourhoods-tickets-39334511583>

This event was sponsored by the Sustainable and Resilient Cities RPA (University of Nottingham) and the Architectural Association

Image: Laura Caicedo Lopez (MArch AAHU 2017) "Learning Landscapes" - Towards A Vision for West London